Vector is a proud B Corp, which means we are certified to meet high standards of social and environment impact.

The B Corp Certification is a whole business certification that measures a company's overall impact on society and the environment, going beyond product and sourcing, while also providing a measure of trust and credibility that many other certifications do not offer.

Certified companies around the world lead economic systems change to support a collective vision of an inclusive, equitable, and regenerative economy.

Vector Certification Milestones:

- First freight forwarder headquartered in the US
- First freight forwarder in Mexico
- Second freight forwarder in Chile
- First freight forwarder in Peru

Impact areas assessed:

- Governance – policies and practices pertaining to mission, ethics, accountability, and transparency
- Workers – employees' financial, physical, professional, and social well-being
- Environment – overall environmental stewardship
- Community – the economic and social well-being of the communities in which a company operates
- Customers – the value created for direct customers and the consumers of a company's products or services
