Who We Are

Vector Global Logistics is an international logistics and supply chain company supporting businesses and non-profits around the world. Since 2013, organizations have turned to Vector to navigate complex logistics challenges through strategic thinking, reliable execution, and a people-focused approach.

For clients and suppliers, that means having a logistics partner that can navigate complexity, respond when circumstances change, and help move what matters to the people and places that need it.

Our mission is to provide world-class logistics services that help our partners and clients succeed while bettering the lives of the people we come in contact with and creating positive impact.

That purpose extends beyond individual shipments. It shapes how we build long-term relationships with clients and partners and how we think about the impact logistics can have on the communities we reach.

How We Help

A Message From Our Chief Impact Officer

Purpose, Put Into Practice

Kristi Porter

As Vector's first Chief Impact Officer, I stepped into a team that was already very practiced at using supply chain to change the world. In fact, they'd been partnering with charities, volunteering, and moving non-profit cargo since their founding in 2013. That is a big part of why many of us chose to work here.

When I joined Vector in 2020 to start the marketing department, I knew little about logistics, and wow, the last few years have been quite the crash course!

Every training, meeting, and conversation with our team has taught me two fundamental things about this wild and wonderful industry:

First, every product has a supply chain, and behind every shipment is a person counting on it. That makes logistics an incredible way to make a difference for others. Second, logistics is the ultimate form of collaboration, because no one can move anything on their own.

In 2025, our team, clients, and partners dealt with whiplash tariffs, increasing geopolitical conflicts, climate disasters, greater dependence on AI, the ongoing Ukraine-Russia war, and more. But, through it all, impact-driven logistics and collaboration showed up again and again. From our second year as a Certified B Corp to our humanitarian response to the dozens of projects our teams executed in their own backyards, that is how we create a better world for us all.

Please read this report as proof that none of it happened without our teams, clients, partners, suppliers, and friends. Logistics With Purpose® is a movement we build together, one shipment at a time.

Leveraging Logistics

“I've really enjoyed Vector's Leveraging Logistics meetings and have found them to be of incredible value. The meetings also provide a forum for responding organizations to convene, communicate, and collaborate on the best ways to serve survivors.”

Amanda Lewis, Customs Brokerage

“We should leave a positive mark, and sometimes small changes made by many people can make a difference.”

TAKING STEPS TO MITIGATE OUR FOOTPRINT

Understanding our environmental impact starts with knowing where we stand. In 2025, we continued building that picture through our freight activity while taking practical steps through climate solutions and more responsible digital operations.

FOOTPRINT • ACTION • CLIMATE • IMPACT

Understanding Our Scope 3 Freight Impact

Scope 3 emissions are indirect emissions that occur across a company's value chain, including freight transportation. Strengthening our freight data is an important step toward more complete and consistent measurement of these emissions.

01 ACTIVITY DATA

Understanding how freight moves across different transportation activities.

02 BETTER VISIBILITY

Improving the quality and availability of the data needed to understand freight-related emissions.

03 EMISSIONS MEASUREMENT

Building a stronger foundation for measuring transportation-related Scope 3 emissions over time.

FROM DATA TO BETTER MEASUREMENT

Strengthening freight data is an important step toward more complete emissions measurement. As data quality improves, we will build a clearer picture of our transportation-related Scope 3 impact and identify opportunities for future action.

Based on 2025 freight activity reported through our freight management system. Activity data is being used to support the development of transportation-related Scope 3 measurement and does not represent calculated greenhouse gas emissions.

Climate Solutions

In 2025, we continued addressing emissions associated with our operations and employee travel through the purchase of carbon credits from ClimeCo.

This year, we chose to support a forest restoration project in Mexico.

Location: Three Ejidos in Quintana Roo, Mexico

Project Type: Landscape Scale Tropical Forest Restoration and Improved Forest Management

Project Size: 72,645 hectares

RESTORE

It protects biodiversity, sequesters carbon, and strengthens vital ecosystems.

EMPOWER

It empowers communities through education, training, and support for women and Indigenous groups.

The project promotes alternatives to harmful land-use practices and supports local landowners in becoming long-term forest stewards.

Certified carbon credits also create a source of income for participating communities.

Digital Climate Solutions

In 2025, we began measuring the environmental impact of our digital operations more closely, establishing new baselines for our website while continuing to improve the efficiency of the technology we use across the company.
